WASHINGTON (AP)—A six-member committee today turned to the task of drafting a report on the official conduct of Sen. McCarthy with every sign it will ignore his attack on fairness of its legal staff.

The report, which may be critical of some of the Wisconsin senator's activities, is to act as a guide to the Senate when it returns later this year to consider whether McCarthy's conduct merits censure.

Whether the committee will make specific recommendations for action, or will content itself with factual findings, has not been determined.

As the public censure hearings wound up late yesterday, Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) said that E. Wallace Chadwick, the committee counsel and Guy G. de Furia, his assistant, had "tried their level best to be fair" in presenting evidence on five main categories of charges leveled at McCarthy.

But McCarthy and his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, contended that Chadwick and De Furia had been acting as prosecutors. They indicated they believe any report to which the two attorneys contribute will hold that McCarthy overstepped the bound on one or more of the principal counts against him.

And McCarthy said he was "still disturbed by a statement of Sen. Watkins that the jury doesn't have to be impartial."

This was a reference to Watkins' previous statement that many members of the Senate have taken sides for or against McCarthy, and that they cannot for that reason be disqualified from voting when the Senate considers censure.

Watkins made the statement early in the censure hearings when McCarthy questioned whether Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) could give an impartial verdict in view of some previous statements about McCarthy. McCarthy and Johnson later shook hands publicly. The Coloradoan has assured McCarthy he is impartial.

Much of yesterday's final session of hearings was given over to the testimony of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, whom McCarthy has been accused of abusing when the general appeared at a closed hearing of McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee in New York last Feb. 18.

Zwicker, in a lengthy verbal fencing duel with Williams, maintained he had not intended to be evasive or arrogant, as McCarthy contends he was. And Zwicker insisted he saw no inconsistencies in his testimony then. McCarthy has accused him of misstating facts.

As the hearings ended, Williams called for the appointment of "independent counsel" to study the facts and the law as developed by 10 witnesses in the hearings.

McCarthy and Williams, stepping outside of the hearing room, declared they do not believe "the district attorney should write the opinion when he had completed prosecuting the case."

McCarthy said Chadwick and DeFuria had been "very vigorous prosecutors and cross-examined me very vigorously. I think they made a mistake in what they task was. They should have brought out the facts on both sides."

Eden Pushing New European Setup

LONDON (AP)—Britain has proposed joining West Germany and Italy to the five-nation Brussels defense pact as a substitute for the European Army plan scuttled by the French.

Official sources disclosed last night the new scheme to rearm West Germany and associate her with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The 1948 Brussels treaty, forerunner of NATO, binds together Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg within the framework of the broader 14-nation organization. The five Brussels members are pledged to the military, political, economic and social cooperation.

The informants said British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, presenting the new plan on his swing through the key West European capitals, already has been assured informally of support by Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and West Germany.

HE FLEW LAST night from the West German capital at Bonn to Rome, where political observers predicted he would receive wholehearted support. His next stop is Paris.

In his whirlwind tour, Eden hopes to lay the groundwork for a conference in London to work out the new West European defense arrangement before the end of the year. At the conference, the British hope to have the six signers of the rejected European Defense Community pact — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg along with the United States, Canada and Britain.

Remember that story carried in the Record-Herald a few weeks ago, regarding "fairy rings" or "devils rings?"

The story was accompanied by pictures showing rings of mushrooms or fungus of the lycoperid type, growing in circles some 12 or 15 feet in diameter.

For lack of a better name the circles of mushrooms are known as fairy rings, or sometimes called "devils rings" by reason of their mysterious nature.

There has been an unusually large number of the "devil rings" in Fayette County this year, due to the large amount of rain in August. Several persons have reported presence of the mysterious circles of mushrooms, some of which were only a few feet in diameter and others up to 16 or 18 feet in diameter.

However there seems to be nothing mysterious about the circles of mushrooms, according to my friend, Dr. Edward S. Thomas, well known naturalist and curator of natural history of the Ohio Historical Society.

Dr. Thomas explains the reasons for the circles, as worked out by experts, and it is all very simple.

He states that the rings start forming, according to best authorities, by a single clump of certain types of mushrooms, and as the nutrients of the soil are exhausted in the spot, the fungus start spreading outward to obtain proper nutrients, and year by year the rings increase in size and then, under proper conditions, the mushrooms appear as by magic.

Two of the circles are located on the farm of Miss Clara and Raymond Zimmerman on the Prairie Road and one or more on the Wolfe land immediately southeast of the Zimmerman farm.

Several other rings have also been reported from various parts of the county, all appearing in meadows.

The one pictured with the story carried in the Record-Herald on Aug. 20, was on Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Smith's farm on the Bogus Road.

Need for Homes Is Stressed At Meeting Here

Residential Area Development Plan Is Outlined

A residential subdivision development in or adjacent to Washington C. H. is needed to take care of the increasing population, members of the Home Builders Association of Southwestern Ohio were told by James Renick Allen of Columbus, a native of Washington C. H. who is now a representative of the Kissel Co. of Columbus, a real estate mortgage brokerage firm, at Monday night's meeting at the Washington Lumber Co. here.

Allen, the principal speaker at the meeting, told the group that a properly engineered subdivision is the ideal way to meet the needs for additional housing.

He described the most common types of home financing and emphasized that the local financial institutions had proven to be the most satisfactory. He also explained how the mortgage loan companies enter the financing picture. He recommended FHA financing and outlined the possibilities of building a home with 10 percent down and 25 years to pay for it.

Referring to the experience of the Kissel Co., Allen said the trend for home prices has been upward—from $6,000 to $10,000 to $12,000—and he added that his company was interested primarily in residential developments.

BEFORE HE CLOSED his informal remarks, Allen said that reports of material suppliers and builders indicate that there is a need for a residential development here. He said, however, that no conclusive survey had been made.

He explained that people in the metropolitan centers (he mentioned Columbus and Dayton) are moving out into the smaller cities and towns within a 50-mile radius.

Frank Gorsuch, a Lancaster builder who puts up 200 or 300 homes a year, told the gathering here of some of his personal experiences. Clifford St. Clair, executive vice president of the Ohio Home Builders Association, described the home building situation on the state level.

The association's next meeting was scheduled for Sept. 27 and it was agreed that it would be a dinner meeting at Anderson's Drive-In Restaurant.

A. W. King of Detroit, regional vice president of the National Association of Home Builders, and Melvin Kimmey of Dayton, vice president of the Ohio Home Builders Association, are to be at the next meeting to lay the groundwork for the affiliation of the association.

Hillsboro Tries Redistricting In Race-Tinted School Issue

HILLSBORO (AP)—Supt. Paul L. Upp decided today to ask the state for legal advice before enforcing a resolution redistricting the city for school purposes.

The school board passed the resolution last night after considering conditions created at two schools when Negro children matriculated at them earlier this week.

The board, in passing the resolution, said the question of segregation was not considered. It was "only a matter of overcrowding," the board insisted.

The new plan of redistricting, which would keep most of the Negro children in the Lincoln school, where they formerly were taught, would become effective Thursday.

It was said the school board authorized Upp to ask the state authorities for legal advice on the matter.

SOME 50 NEGRO children who formerly attended the all-Negro Lincoln school registered this year at Washington and Webster schools. The board reportedly had asked that they remain at Lincoln until a building program was completed.

A building program, expected to be completed in 1956, will enable children of any race to attend any school, it was said.

Ordinarily, about 67 Negro children attend Lincoln school. School officials said that under the redistricting, all but 10 per cent will continue to be assigned there.

Elmer Hodges, a member of the school board, said under present circumstances, the situation for the students will be bettered until the re-building and remodeling jobs have been completed.

Children failing to heed transfers called for under the new zoning plan will be declared truant, the board said in a resolution.

Businessmen Will Visit Schools If C of C Plan For BIE Day Develops

Plans for Washington C. H. business and professional men and women to visit the city schools sometime in the near future were discussed at considerable length by the Chamber of Commerce directors at their regular monthly meeting Monday night.

They also came to the conclusion that air taxi service is essential to the overall program for industrial development of the city after hearing many reports on how this service is developing along with the changes in modern transportation.

The day for the visit of the business and professional people to the schools has not been set, but indications are that it would be soon.

This event is to be a Business-Industry-Education Day, as it has been observed here, in reverse; for the last three years, high school seniors, and once the teachers, in the city and county schools, have visited the city's businesses and industries.

The Chamber directors gave their approval to the plan and then turned the whole thing over the education committee, headed by Leo Edwards, for further study and to work out the details.

In outlining the need for the air taxi service, it was pointed out that research shows that in industry today 85 percent of the travel is by plane.

The air taxi service, it was explained, would take passengers from here to airports in Columbus, Dayton or Cincinnati for connection with the big airlines who big planes need long landing strips and more elaborate airports.

The air taxi service would require at least a small airport capable of handling small planes.

No conclusions were reached after the discussions, but indications were that the question would be studied in greater detail and that another report would be made to the directors in the near future.

Plans for the banquet that will mark the completion of another phase of the Green Pastures Program here were discussed. It is to be held at the Country Club Nov. 17. Recognition is to be given the participants in the program and awards are to be presented then.

Ex-Congressman Shuns Questions

DAYTON (AP)—Hugh Delacy, 44, who served one term in Congress 10 years ago as Democrat from the state of Washington, today invoked the protection of the Fifth Amendment when asked if he is or ever was a Communist.

Delacy was the first witness in the second day of hearings probing reported subversive activity in the Dayton area. The hearings are being conducted by a three-man subcommittee of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Since 1948, Delacy has been a resident of Cleveland. He said he came to Ohio as a national officer of the Progressive Party during the presidential campaign of Henry Wallace. Delacy testified he continued as a state officer of the Progressive Party through 1950.

Delacy refused to answer any questions regarding testimony which linked him with the Communists.

At one point in his testimony, Delacy offered Chairman Gordon Scherer, Cincinnati Republican, an opportunity to appear with him tonight in a broadcast over Dayton radio station WING.

SCHERER declined, but ordered Delacy's subpoena continued until tomorrow morning with the expectation that he will be quizzed about statements he makes on tonight's broadcast.

"I believe the people of Dayton now know that this radio program has been arranged by the Communist Party," Scherer declared.

The appearance of Delacy was scheduled in the wake of a busy first day which saw the groundwork of the hearing laid by a former FBI undercover agent inside the Communist ranks.

The first day's hearing failed to produce a single mention of reported subversive activity at (Please Turn to Page Two)

Safety Sermon Found In Wreck

OMAHA (AP)—A letter containing a brotherly sermon on safe driving was found in the wreckage following a head-on collision near Denison, Iowa, Sunday. Six persons died in the crash.

The letter was addressed to Wayne Alleman, 17, of Omaha, one of the victims, and owner of one of the automobiles involved.

It was written last March 28 by his brother, Gary D. Alleman, then an Army private.

The letter read in part: "I hope you are driving your car slow and carefully, because if you should happen to have an accident, you would not only be hurting yourself but the whole family lives in your hands. Wayne, so be careful and think what you do before you do it."

Miss Sorel is 31, Carradine 48.

Court Grants New Red Bid

Party To Rewrite Arguments In Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist party has won its bid for new arguments, in the light of a 1954 act of Congress directed at it, on a government order that it register as being controlled in Moscow.

That order was issued by the Subversive Activities Control Board under the 1950 Internal Security Act, which provides that Communist action groups shall register with the Justice Department.

They are required to list officers and members and disclose their financial setup.

The Communist party has challenged the constitutionality of the act and of the SACB procedure in a case almost certain to go ultimately to the Supreme Court for decision.

The local U. S. Court of Appeals heard arguments on the case last spring, and was expected to rule sometime this fall.

Child-Beater Grabbed By Hotel Clerk

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 33-year-old bachelor was captured last night after another man said he caught him brutally beating and molesting an 8-year-old girl in the basement of a hotel.

The girl, whose name was not made public, suffered a broken leg, cuts and bruises about the face and had a cut mouth and had two teeth knocked out. Still in shock, she was reported in fair condition last night in a hospital.

Police identified her alleged attacker as Joseph Dobbs, 33, a maintenance worker at a country club. Police Lt. Bert Gharky said Dobbs kept repeating after his capture that "I didn't want to hurt her. I didn't want to hurt anyone."

Dobbs was treated for two severe head cuts inflicted by the man who found him in the basement and for cuts from broken glass, suffered when he leaped through a glass door at the hotel, trying to escape.

Alfred B. Childers, 38, night clerk at the hotel, had gone into the basement for a piece of lumber when he heard the child cry out.

He switched on the light and saw this guy bending over the girl," he said. "I ran over and pulled him away. He resisted and I hit him a few times."

Dobbs was not immediately charged.

But Republican Senator Reelected; Party Chiefs Withholding Comment

By The Associated Press

"As Maine goes, so goes the nation," is a political saying getting new study today.

Yesterday, the state of Maine held its general election and, although solidly Republican for two decades, elected a Democratic governor to steal the nation's political spotlight.

Meanwhile, voters in nine other states today were picking party nominees for five Senate and 92 House seats and for six governorships. This will just about wind up selection of candidates to run in the Nov. 2 elections for control of the next Congress.

New York State conventions and Rhode Island primaries later this month will conclude the preliminaries.

But it was the Maine election, traditionally held two months before those in the other 47 states, that attracted most of the political attention.

EDMUND MUSKIE, 39-year-old Democratic National Committee member, ousted GOP Gov. Burton M. Cross in voting which Vice President Nixon had described in advance as "the first statewide test of the Eisenhower program."

Nixon had campaigned for the GOP ticket in Maine, urging "an even greater majority than ever before" to herald Republican victories in the other 47 states in November.

The election of Muskie was being interpreted in some quarters as indicating a Democratic comeback (Please Turn to Page Two)

The club also provides milk for the players of both teams after the home games at Gardner Park.

Its main purpose is to boost a better understanding between the members and the athletic teams at Washington High School.

Creek Pollution Movie Readied

Invited to See It

Color motion pictures of Paint Creek, designed to show the pollution the stream collects on its course through the city, are to be shown at the meeting of the Fayette County Fish and Game Association Tuesday (tonight) at 8 P. M. in the Farm Bureau auditorium.

These pictures and this meeting are the outgrowth of last month's meeting which waxed so hot during the discussion of stream pollution.

A spokesman for the association said members of the city council and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce are being invited to come to the meeting to see the pictures and hear the reports on pollution.

An officer of the association said "a lot of facts and figures" have been gathered on pollution to be presented at the Tuesday night meeting. However, he declared the color motion picture would present the most convincing evidence of pollution in Paint Creek.

This same association officer emphasized that the sportsmen are working with the city in an effort to clean up the stream and made it plain that any criticism was aimed at improvement.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a motion picture of fishing in South America is to be shown. One of the program committeemen described this picture as "a dandy."

Kirkendall, the missing witness, was on this list as were a dozen others Strunk said were members of the high command of the strikers during the bloody Univis Lens Co. strike in Dayton during 1948.

With her election to a second term assured, Mrs. Smith said she hopes her triumph "will give impetus to a national trend in November for the election of a Republican Congress for President Eisenhower."

Sen. Robert W. Upton (R-NH) appeared the only one facing a tough fight among four senators seeking renomination. Unopposed were Sens. Styles Bridges (R-NH) and Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass). Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) had opposition, but he was regarded an easy winner.

The seat of the fifth senator involved in today's biggest of the year pre-election voting is that of the veteran Democratic senator from Colorado, Edwin C. Johnson, leaving the Senate voluntarily after 18 years. He is unopposed today for the gubernatorial nomination in Colorado.

Candidates for the Senate were being chosen in Colorado, Massachusetts, Minnesota, and a new Hampshire (two seats). These states also picked governor candidates along with Vermont and Wisconsin.

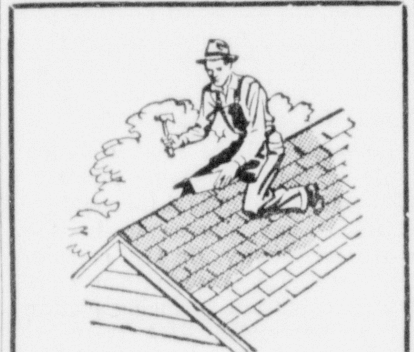

House candidates only were being chosen in New York, Utah and Washington. There were comparatively few House contests in the nine states as 46 Republican and 24 Democratic incumbents were unopposed.

A Good School Move To Better Advise Parents

Most of us here in Washington C. H. have heard many times during various discussion among parents, that they believed more attention in our schools should be given to impressing upon school pupils some of the everyday lessons of common courtesy, good citizenship, responsibility, thrift and respect for authority, as well as conduct which wins the good opinion of others.

Practically every one has agreed that something of this kind would be helpful for all children; would serve to implement the efforts of parents in seeking to impress children with the necessity for understanding some of these qualities as vital assets to good citizenship.

During the past week our attention was called to an important addition being made to grade cards of pupils in the elementary grades of the Washington Public Schools.

Besides showing grades for the regular subjects taught in the classes from first to sixth grades inclusive, the pupils of these grades now also will take home grade cards which show their individual rating in habits and attitudes.

A regular page on the cards will show grades on 10 "habits and attitudes" of the pupil and how he or she ranks, from "E" (Excellent), "S" (Satisfactory), "N" (Needing Improvement) down to "U" (Unsatisfactory).

The 10 branches on each of which grades will be given are: 1-Practises courtesy in speech and action; 2-Makes good use of time; 3-Respects the rights of others; 4-Follows directions; 5-Is neat in work and habits; 6-Works and plays well with others; 7-Respects authority; 8-Assumes responsibility; 9-Observes good health habits; 10-Respects school authority.

Teachers who carefully observe their students are in an excellent position to provide a very helpful service by a serious and fair appraisal along this line of habits and attitudes of the young people under their direction. What they report should be of the greatest interest to all parents who are presumed to note with care the facts to which a report card calls their attention when it is brought to them for their inspection and signature.

Undoubtedly the teachers in the various grades will explain clearly to their pupils what this addition to their grade cards means. It will also give every teacher an opportunity during such brief explanation to include examples as to how each branch of the habits and attitude affects their present and future standing.

Certainly this commendable addition which school authorities here hope will help parents learn more about what others think of their children's habits and attitudes. Aside from their regular school studies, it is something for the parents to consider thoughtfully and talk over with their children.

It will be interesting to note what percentage of the parents will make good "home" use of this effort by school authorities to let all pupils and their parents know how they impress others.

Dreamopolis To Come True

NEW YORK (AP)—Most people have dreams. Sydney M. Siegel has a "Dreamopolis."

That's a dream city. At 39 Siegel says he is now ready to make his dream city come true—at a cost of $175 million.

He and a group of 16 syndicate teammates figure that with that sum of money they can build what they believe will be America's first thoroughly planned modern city.

It will be called Suffolk City. Siegel has assembled 2,000 acres for its site near Yaphank, at the geographical heart of Long Island some 56 miles from New York City.

"I have been working on this for more than six years," said Siegel quietly, "and when I have finished it, I don't care what happens to me afterwards."

"The men who are in this with me need money like I need hair and I don't need hair. But it's not a philanthropy. It's just a mixture of good business and good works."

What he has in mind is an ideal suburban community of 6,000 moderately priced homes. It will be completely self-sustaining, having its own industries, schools, churches and shopping centers.

"The New York area is one of the greatest reservoirs of skilled workmen in the world," said Siegel. "And most of them would accept less pay—and save money at that—if they could work close to their homes and avoid commuting into the city."

Siegel's scientifically planned town isn't just a drafting board project. He went into real estate selling at the age of 19, pioneered in the building and management of suburban shopping centers. In the last five years he has had a big hand in real estate transactions totaling $200 million.

He has had his ups and downs in the business. Shortly before going into the Army during World War II he talked a plumbing supply company into taking 17 old Manhattan brownstone houses off his hands for $150,000.

"They did me a favor at the time," he said, "because if anything happened to me I didn't want my wife and kids stuck with the problem of handling those old houses. But now I kind of wish they hadn't done me the favor. The houses today are worth a million dollars."

Siegel now feels that real estate in old cities is stagnant and static, and that the best investments are in the outlying suburban areas.

"The modern industrial plants in the suburbs don't look like a factory, and they don't create slum areas," he said. "They are built to resemble a high school, and they are well landscaped and have plenty of light and air."

Five years ago, Siegel said, the project of building a complete new city would have been rejected as fantastic.

"Today businessmen want to rent space in your shopping center before you can build it. What used to be fantastic is now accepted as commonplace."

Siegel expects to start building his dream community in the spring and finish it in about 30 months.

U. S. Defeat At Manila Conference By George Sokolsky

The United States is becoming accustomed to take defeat in its stride. An American needs to be well over 40 years old to recall the day when a major military or diplomatic defeat would have had the entire country in a rage either against the officials who failed or the country that defeated us. Today we do not even bother to note that our country has been trounced. We are so fun-loving that nothing seems to matter. Without any reflections on the various celebrities who occupy so much time and space in newspapers and radio, the defeat of the United States in the EDC matter is not of greater significance.

The isolation of the United States could cost some of these jukebox addicts their lives in the next four or five years. They might be fighting not only for their country but for their own survival somewhere in the marshes of Southern Indochina or in Thailand because the probability of France joining the EDC was badly evaluated by the State Department.

Now we have the Manila Conference to establish SEATO. Not present are the nations whose presence is essential—Japan, the Republic of Korea, Formosa, Indonesia, Burma, India and Ceylon. Present are Great Britain and France who have commitments which bind them to Red China. The conference is called to form an alliance against Red China. How can these two nations support such an alliance in view of what they did at Geneva?

When the Manila Conference is over, a NATO Conference is to be called. What will be accomplished at the NATO Conference now that the EDC is dead? After each conference the United States goes into a new conference with its prestige lowered. Beginning with Teheran in 1943, we have been progressively weakened by the superior diplomacy of Soviet Russia. How many lickings can we take? How many lickings do we need to take before we catch on to the simple fact that the Russians have outsmarted us, that the British have played their historic game of reducing the most powerful nation of each generation to second place; that France is "logical," which realistically means that French cupidity masters her sense of international morality.

The reduction and isolation of the United States has been the greatest achievement of Soviet Russia. It was accomplished by the very slow process of infiltration, so that in each country which the United States hoped to have as an ally, a powerful element developed an anti-American program on a rising crescendo. As far back as 1950, for instance, it was clear beyond doubt, that Aneurin Bevan and his following were anti-American and would turn the British Labour Party into an anti-American vehicle in Great Britain. Surely, the CIA, with the facilities at its disposal, knew that. However, whenever anyone called attention to this obvious fact, he was called anti-British; he was attacked for opposing the fixed policy of the United States; he might even have been accused of belonging to the Chinese lobby.

Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, in her brilliant address before the American Legion, said:

"There is no advantage in arguing about who made the mistakes that opened the door to the conquest of China by Soviet Russia. History will write that tragedy large—and, in time, correctly."

She was overly polite. She knows that it was the ill-prepared judgment of General George C. Marshall that made it so easy for Russia to incorporate the whole of the mainland of China in the Soviet Universal State. It is still a social error in the United States to call attention to General Marshall's inadequacy in this situation, while it is politically unsound to refer to the correctness of General Douglas MacArthur's judgment concerning Korea and the way to fight the war there.

We refuse to face the facts, and that is Soviet Russia's greatest advantage. It is not religion that is an opiate for the people; it is politics and the terrifying success that politicians have in covering up the mistakes of the past, which means in practical terms that we start on each new road, loaded down with all the mistakes of the recent past. Thus, at Manila, we omit Formosa and Japan because to do otherwise would be to admit that the State Department has pursued an unsound policy in Asia since 1945.

Indochinese Rulers Split Over Policies

PARIS (AP)—Two armed camps in Saigon headed toward a showdown Monday on which finally was going to run the Viet Nam government.

The Vietnamese army chief of staff, Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh formally repudiated Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's order that he leave the country and go to Paris.

Instead, the general threw his own forces around the Saigon radio, putting them alongside the premier's militia which had been stationed on guard earlier. Thereafter, the army began accepting for transmission all stories by correspondents discussing the crisis. These had been stopped by the premier's censors earlier.

The crisis developed over the weekend when the premier ordered Hinh to go to France "on a mission." The general refused formally today to board the plane made available.

There was no immediate indication of how this conflict would work out. Both French and American officials, as well as an international armistice commission are in the area. However, there was no sign that the French are going to step in, or that the Americans were taking sides in the matter of distribution of military supplies.

There has been mounting disquiet about the Diem government ever since the armistice last July.

Diet and Health

Symptoms of Skin May Reveal Illness

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Impetigo, an infant-age skin disease, is often so contagious that its spread closes the best of baby nurseries.

The peculiar characteristic of this disease is that the infection can be spread from one part of the body to another until the entire body is covered by the sores. The disease most often affects the face, scalp, arms and legs, but it can affect the entire body. It is one of the most difficult and stubborn of diseases to clear up.

Characteristic Rash

The rash is usually described as having little blisters filled either with blood or pus, which crust and become scaly. A germ known as the staphylococcus is usually the cause of impetigo. Before treatment is attempted, the crust and blisters must be removed. This is usually done by thoroughly cleansing the rash and sponging the skin with soap and water.

Recently neomycin, one of the newer antibiotics, was very successfully used for treating stubborn cases of impetigo. This drug originally was used for tuberculosis, but it apparently was not found to be very effective here. It is now used locally for infections of the skin, eyes, and intestinal tract.

Successful Treatment

A group of stubborn cases of impetigo was recently treated with neomycin and all the cases cleared up within three weeks. Indeed, half of the cases cleared up in less than one week's time. The drug has also been effective in treating Barber's itch, a fungus infection involving the hair follicles of the face.

Europeans Laugh At McCarthy

By Ray Tucker

LONDON — The supposedly harmful effect of Sen. Joe McCarthy's activities on U. S. foreign relations here has been overestimated and overemphasized to such a degree that it strikes European politicians as ludicrous.

British and Continental newspapers refer usually to the Wisconsin senator in what they would call a "spoofing" vein.

The British and French, who understand our political maneuvering far better than we comprehend their parliamentary intrigues, attribute the excitement over McCarthy's disturbing international role to three domestic factors. None, in their opinion, has any direct connection with the conduct of our foreign policy.

Joe's basic unimportance on the world stage may wound his ego. It will disappoint the Capitol Hill Democrats and New Deal columnists, who taunt President Eisenhower almost daily for not demanding a public and political lynching of the bad boy from Wisconsin.

But a canvass of official and unofficial sentiment reveals that Ike was far smarter than anti-McCarthy baiters from the politi-

PETRELS — European statesmen have had their own Joe McCarthy's, and far more violent ones, even before he was born. They have them now, especially in the British, French and Italian parliaments. These overseas McCarthy's attack U. S. foreign policy far more violently than Joe criticizes his own and foreign governments.

But they are ignored by statesmen seeking to prevent a third world war that could wipe off the earth such centers of Western and classic culture and civilization as London, Amsterdam, Brussels, Paris, Nice, Florence and Rome.

IMPORTANT—In the grim and baleful light of Western Europe's desperate effort to ward off another thousand years of a dark medieval age, when religion, art, learning and the richness of living almost died, McCarthy's antics and peccadilloes do not impress the Europeans.

To quote a distinguished politician, who also happens to be a minor poet and critic: "Your concern with McCarthy, insofar as world politics and relations are concerned, is utterly amazing to us. It is as if a swagger-ing, loud-mouthed American Falstaff were permitted by a re-writer of Shakespeare to blunder into the tragic tableau, where Hamlet proves his stepfather to have been the murderer of Hamlet's father, the king, with his mother as an accomplice.

"I doubt if your American public will grasp the significance of the simile, any more than we grasp the significance of McCarthy. Why don't you forget and ignore him? Have you lost your sense of humor and proportion?"

INDIFFERENCE — There is such a preponderance of proof of Europe's indifference to McCarthyism that it is almost unnecessary to cite it. But, for the benefit and education of the New Deal, anti-Eisenhower columnists at home, and for Joe's friends and enemies, here are a few samples of evidence:

(1) In the midst of McCarthy's denunciations of British trading with the Chinese Communists, former Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee and about 30 Labor and Tory members of Parliament journeyed to Russia and China to explore chances for improved trade and diplomatic relations. As I have written recently, they accepted Communist hospitality with Churchill's tacit but full approval.

(2) Both Churchill and Premier Mendes-France, even at the risk then of killing the European Defense Community treaty, insisted on another "peace" conference with Messrs. Malenkov and Molotov.

(3) A responsible British trade official, with no apologies or regrets, admits that the number of British ships carrying goods to and from China has increased from 15 in a year to 500 annually in five years.

EMBARGOES — Every NATO nation, which we are aiding financially and militarily, bombards Harold A. Stassen for relaxation of U. S.-imposed embargoes on commerce with the Communists. And most of their demands are being granted.

In short, despite blasts from the Stevenson-Lehman-Humphrey-Flanders factions, and from New Dealish, internationally-minded "journalists"—they like to use this European word for the American term of "reporters"—Senator McCarthy has not created a ripple in the sea of international relations.

MISSING FROM HOME in San Francisco for eight days, Rinaldo Couturier, 13, and his sister Clarinda, 8, are shown in a police station where they said they ran away "because we thought our father was going to punish us for being bad." They said they played in a park and slept under bushes. (International)

Southern Regional Council Chief Eyes Segregation End

EDITOR'S NOTE—In the Deep South one organization stands out as likely to wield the most influence in shaping the region's attitudes toward integration. Here is the story of the Southern Regional Council, whose executive director believes segregation in schools will be ended in a dozen years.

By BEM PRICE
AP Newsfeatures Writer
ATLANTA (AP)—When the tree has been cut and it is falling over at you, that ain't no time to holler 'hold it back! It's time to git.' George Mitchell, executive director of the Southern Regional Council, grinned, and paused to roll a cigarette. "Old Negro told me that," he said, "when I was talking to him about this segregation business. Well, the Supreme Court decision on the public schools cut the tree and it is time for the South to do some 'gittin'." Mitchell, doctor of philosophy, economist and sociologist, is one of the South's foremost authorities on race relations. His council is expected to play a major role in shaping the region's attitudes toward integration. He believes segregation in public schools will be ended in the south within a dozen years. The solutions to its problems, he believes, will have to be worked out at the community level and that "the church women will make it work."

As the only southwide organization with a going program for racial tolerance, the council recently was granted $240,000 by the Ford Foundation's fund for the Republic to help prepare the region for the calm acceptance of the court's decision. Last May the Supreme Court unanimously ruled the South's cherished doctrine of "separate but equal" facilities in public schools was unconstitutional and scheduled hearings in October on how best to end segregation.

Any story on the South and segregation must almost of necessity begin with Mitchell and the council, which functions as a sort of clearing house of information on the region. It is composed entirely of southerners, white and Negro, and operates on the simple thesis that all men are entitled to equal opportunity—a thesis which often arouses bitter resentment among southerners long nurtured on the theory of white supremacy.

One of these is Gov. Herman Tamm of Georgia, who has charged in his personal political newspaper that the council is pink tinged. Msgr. T. J. McNamara of the Catholic Church's Atlanta-Savannah Diocese calls the charges "absurd and ridiculous."

Mitchell, who travels 40,000 miles annually through the region, was asked in an interview: Can segregation be ended in the South without much trouble?

His answer is "Yes, but..." "There will be some trouble," he said, "but not much. Some violence perhaps, but then the negroes have a philosophy about trouble. After the Detroit race riots some told me, 'It was terrible, but things are much better now.' They can even see good in trouble."

"In dealing with this problem you have to raise the sweet voice of facts and reason. Southern places are imitative. If something has been done before, they figure they can do it, too."

"Our mission is to find the frontiers of progress and make them known honestly and temperately. We must give the facts and persuade."

"I expect the whole thing to be over in a dozen years at the outside."

"You know the conscience of the South on racial matters is borne by the women."

"I like to remember the work of Mrs. Jesse Daniel Ames back in Texas. She's retired now and lives at Tryon, N.C. Well, there were some lynchings and every time the excuse was that somebody had to protect the honor of southern white women."

"Mrs. Ames, when she'd hear about a dangerous situation, would go into the county and talk to her fellow church women and then then she'd get up a petition and take it around to the sheriff stating that they, as white women, didn't want anybody protecting their honor but the sheriff."

"The sheriff got the hint. The church women wanted law enforcement. You know, the sheriffs didn't give up so many prisoners to mobs after that."

"If this whole problem is worked out at all, it will be worked out by the church women and it will be worked out on the local level."

Mitchell, who was born in Richmond, Va., believes segregation will end first in the regions with sparse Negro populations—less than

Another Guide Book Released

Board of Elections Has Copies on Hand

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has released another in his series of "Guide" publications designed to acquaint both the voters and the officials who "man" Ohio's more than 11,000 polls, with election laws and procedures governing voting at the General Election, November 2.

The latest is an 8-page easy-to-read Precinct Officials' Guide, which Brown is furnishing to Boards of Elections to be given to the men and women who will serve as precinct officials. Earlier publications published by Ohio's chief election official were a "Candidate's Guide" and a "Voter's Guide," both of which have been of inestimable value in election administration.

Voter's Guides, Brown said, are greatly in demand not only by individuals but many organizations have made requests to his office and to the Boards of Elections for a supply for distribution. These requests, he said, will be met as long as the limited supply lasts. Any Fayette County voter who desires one may obtain it at the Fayette County Board of Elections office in the Court House.

The Precinct Officials' Guide sets forth, step by step, the duties of such officials throughout election day and contains a check list of important items which must receive attention in opening the polls on election morning. In a message to these officials, Brown points out that precinct officials "are the very heart of an efficient, honest election system in Ohio."

"I like to remember the work

10 per cent—and will end last in the Deep South's plantation regions—Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and parts of Texas, Arkansas Tennessee and the Carolinas.

"Where the problem will be most acute," said Mitchell, "is where there is not only racial differences but also class distinction—where the Negroes have always been the servants, the sharecroppers and the tenant farmers."

Mitchell, who was given the 1953 award of the Catholic Committee of the South, added, "if we are to prove to the dark-skinned people of the earth that we mean democracy in its truest sense, we must go along with the Supreme Court's ruling. The Negro is making tremendous strides. He is scratching at the door and he is going to come in. Whereas the white people are settled and secure — and conservative—the Negro is a people on the make. He is going to make a place for himself in the world."

The council came into being during World War II.

A group of Negroes met in Durham, N.C., and said in substance that if the United States were fighting for democracy it ought to practice what it preached.

An invitation was issued to southern leaders to get together and talk over the situation.

The meeting was attended by 97 white southerners and ultimately led to a second meeting in Richmond, Va., where the council was born.

It was chartered by Methodist Bishop Arthur J. Moore of Atlanta, editor Ralph McGill of The Atlanta Constitution, Dr. Charles Johnson and Dr. Howard Odum, sociologists at the University of North Carolina, and Dr. Rufus E. Clement of Atlanta University.

In its early days it was financed in large measure by the Julius Rosenwald Fund, but until the Ford grant it drew its money from the major religious denominations in the South—Methodists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Catholics, Jews and the Society of Friends.

It is difficult to say what the council has done in concrete terms, for it often stays in the background, working through the churches or individual members in local communities.

The council has sponsored interracial committees to work out mutual problems throughout the South, fought to have southern newspapers use courtesy titles for Negroes in news stories and campaigned successfully to have Negro policemen patrol Negro neighborhoods.

Virginius Dabney, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, had called the council, "the sanest and best informed organization dealing with race relations."

Fayette County Writers Sought

Ohioan Library To Recognize Them

Mrs. Frank Mayo today was starting a search for any Fayette County writers not now among the 27 recorded by the Ohioana Library.

Her hunt was started after her return from a week end meeting of the Ohioana Library Association at the home of Mrs. Myers Y. Cooper in Cincinnati. The Ohioana Library Association was founded by Mrs. Cooper when she was the first lady of Ohio while her husband, Myers Y. Cooper was the state's governor.

The purpose of the association, Mrs. Cooper has frequently explained, is to publicize, promote and preserve the literary and cultural values of the state and to give recognition to those who have contributed to it through their writings.

Mrs. Mayo, a member of the Washington C. H. High School faculty, is the chairman of the Fayette County affiliate of the association.

The meeting at the home of Mrs. Cooper was to honor the 1953 and 1954 authors and composers of Hamilton County.

Eighteen of those cited for their literary contributions to Ohio culture were at the meeting and responded to introductions with interesting sidelights concerning their writings or quoting from their works.

This is the 25th anniversary year for the Ohioana Library Association, Mrs. Mayo said.

MANY OF THE 27 Fayette Countians recorded by the association are still active here in their literary work, some are following the literary and cultural paths in other cities and others have died. In saying that she would like to know of any other Fayette Countians in the field of music or letters not now listed by the association, Mrs. Mayo gave the names of the 27 who are recorded. They are Hugh Allen, Magdalena D. H. Baker, Rebecca Roberts Bay, Fay Cluff Brown, Matilda Gilruth Carpenter, Bess Bruce Cleveland, Dr. Winchell McK. Craig, Harry M. Daugherty, May M. Duffee, J. O. Engleman, Lorie King Ewing, Pitt L. Fitzgerald, George Bell Frankforter, Grace Gardner (musician), Frank Grubbs, Robert S. Harper, Nina Glenn Huggins, Dr. R. M. Hughey, Joseph James, Elizabeth Blaine Jenkins, Karl J. Kay, Dr. Grayson Kirk, Virginia Thompson Kraner, Lona Pearson MacDorman, Ethel McElwaine, J. Franklin Patton and Lorin Stuckey

Fayette's figures for the recent week were $8,250.66 or a little short of last year's $8,394.69.

The total in Ohio for the period reached $3,015,837.

WHS Lions Getting Ready For Football Opener Friday

With the opening game of the 1954 football season only three days away now, the Lions of WHS were putting the finishing touches on their preparations to raise the curtain at Gardner Park here Friday night with the Panthers from Linden-McKinley High School in Columbus at the opposite end of the field.

Coach Bob Shaw and his staff of four teacher-coaches have been working with the Lions since Aug. 20 and feel that, while the blue and white outfit is not likely to go through the season without some reverses, it will give a good account of itself.

As Coach Shaw summed it up, "These boys will give the fans some surprises...they're going to win some football games."

But what is making the coaches happiest right now is the spirit of the Lions; they are putting everything they've got into the game, the coaches say.

As a whole, the WHS squad of 50 boys is inexperienced and, after the first two teams, the reserves are pretty light. Coach Shaw said with a worried look "we just haven't got any depth...that's why injuries would be so costly."

FRIDAY NIGHT has been set aside for "Mom's Night," and plans are now being worked out for honoring the mothers who keep evening meals warm for their gridiron warriors and quietly wait out every practice and every game nervously fearful for their boys.

Coach Shaw said he hoped every boy on the squad of 50 could be in uniform for the opener Friday, but was afraid that, if the Lions wear their blue jerseys, there won't be enough to go around.

Junior High School football is to get under way in the near future in accordance with plans agreed to around the SCO League. Dan Leggett and Bill McCullough, who have been helping with the Varsity squad, are to take over the juniors.

Equipment for the Juniors, much of it new this year to take care of the expanded program, is to be issued Thursday and Friday under present plans.

The public park along Millikan Avenue was used by the Junior squad last season and indications were that the same plan would be followed this year.

With McCullough and Leggett going across town to supervise the Junior grid program, the Varsity will have Coach Shaw as the directing head, Jim Lipinski for the line coach and Ed Dean for the backfield coach.

All five of the coaches are regular members of the teaching faculty of the high school. They each have five classroom periods and one study period a day—just the same as the other faculty members.

Coaching is what is classed as "extra assigned duty" for which they receive extra compensation.

Walter Rettig, the president of the school board, explained that it is possible to get better men teachers—and men are considered vital to a high school faculty—through the pay increase possible with the extra assigned duties.

Redleg-Bum Series May Alter Standing

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds moved to Brooklyn for tonight's contest, the first of three in a series which may well juggle the standings in the first division.

The second place Dodgers are 3½ games behind the league leading New York Giants and one ahead of the Milwaukee Braves.

Cincinnati, in fourth place by a mere half game, is far behind that class percentage-wise. And it missed its golden opportunity last night to pick up a full game on the fifth place Philadelphia Phillies.

While the Phils lost 7-4 to Milwaukee, the Reds were being shaded by Pittsburgh 6-5.

It was a case of Pittsburgh scoring, Cincinnati catching up, Pittsburgh forging ahead, Cincinnati tying the game, and Pittsburgh scoring again.

The final tie-breaking run was driven home by pitcher Dick Littlefield's single in the eighth inning. Littlefield went the route for his 10th victory against 10 defeats. He permitted 11 hits, two apiece by Johnny Temple, Gus Bell and Ted Kluszewski.

Littlefield's game-winning hit came off Howie Judson, third Red pitcher.

The last place Bucs collected three runs off starter Corky Valentine in the first inning.

The smallest night crowd in the history of Forbes Field, 1,148, saw the contest.

Ryff Looks Like Title Timber

NEW YORK (AP)—Frankie Ryff, unbeaten Bronx lightweight with only 14 pro fights, looks like title timber in the 135-pound class.

The 22-year-old converted southpaw still is crude and awkward but he overpowered highly-rated Ralph Dupas, the No. 2 challenger, last night in Brooklyn.

Ryff, who resumed his career in January after a two-year interruption for Army duty, used a solid left hook and a crashing headlong style to whip the 18-year-old New Orleans schoolboy on an unanimous decision in eight rounds.

Association Set To Start Playoff

COLUMBUS (AP)—Four American Association teams open the playoff series tonight with the league champion, Indianapolis, seriously hampered by the loss of its star pitcher.

Herb Score, the Indians' strike-out king with a 22-5 record during the season, was stricken with what doctors termed pneumonia.

Manager Kerby Farrell named Sam Jones to start against the Minneapolis Millers in the night game at Indianapolis. Bud Byerly was slated to go for the Millers.

In the other set, southpaw Bill Werle takes the mound for Louisville against Columbus' Stu Miller in the Kentucky city.

Mary Faulk Tops Tourney Opener

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Defending champion Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., Mrs. Carmen Baer Castex De Conen of San Andres, Argentina, and Barbara Bruning of Armonk, N. Y., were standouts today as the talent-loaded field went into the second day of the Women's National Amateur golf championship.

Miss Faulk achieved perfection in one way when she won 10 straight holes to beat Mary E. Nelson of Manoa, Pa., 10 and 8 in yesterday's first round.

Bert Bell, National Football League commissioner, announced today that the Detroit Lions-Cleveland Browns game, originally scheduled for Oct. 3, has been moved back to Sunday, Dec. 19 at Cleveland.

Short Battle Expected In Title Match

NEW YORK (AP)—Boxing insiders, gathered here from near and far for the Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles heavyweight title fight tomorrow night envision a short and explosive battle.

The general viewpoint of boxers, managers, trainers, and promoters was more or less summed up by Charley Johnston, manager of champions Archie Moore and Sandy Saddler.

"I think Charles will tear out and try for a quick knockout," said Johnston. "He'll probably shoot the works in an effort to cut Rocky's eye like he did in the first fight and try to put him away. You remember he did jar Marciano a couple of times early in the fight."

"If he doesn't get Rocky in six, he's going to get flattened himself," said Johnston.

The majority opinion, too, was that if there was going to be any flattening, Rocky would be the guy to do it.

Charles himself has indicated from time to time during his training that he planned to go right after the champion. Others have said that and done things a lot differently when the bell rang.

"I'm going to try and make those combinations work," said Charles after finishing his training yesterday. "I know I've got to put some punches together and use more power. I had him hurt in the early rounds and I know I should have thrown more artillery."

Indians Face Senators For Final Series

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Washington Senators, who play here tonight, and the Boston Red Sox had a good bit to do with the fact the Cleveland Indians can relax with a comfortable league lead two full weeks before the season's end.

Tonight's is the last 1954 game Cleveland has with the sixth-place Senators, and Mike Garcia will try to gain his 18th victory at their expense without the help of Al Rosen, Larry Doby, Dave Philley and Jim Hegan. The first three have leg injuries, and Hegan is getting a night off.

Neither Washington nor the Sox, who are in fifth place 2½ games ahead of the Senators, has hurt the Indians much. But both have played big roles in wrecking the New York Yankees' hopes for sixth world championship.

Washington has won only four of 21 games with the Indians, and Boston has won two, lost 20.

But against the Yanks, whom the Senators meet three more times, Washington has an 8-11 record, and Boston a 9-13 mark.

Even if Washington fails to win another of its three games with New York, and even if the Senator southpaw Chuck Stobbs (9-10), or Johnny Schmitz (10-8) wins here tonight, the 1954 balance sheet would show Boston and Washington together beat the Yankees 10 more games than they beat the Indians.

Defensive play will be stressed this week during Ohio University's football practice. Coach Woody Hayes termed unsatisfactory the defensive showing in last Friday's scrimmage. Nine players are on the injured list.

Bert Bell, National Football League commissioner, announced today that the Detroit Lions-Cleveland Browns game, originally scheduled for Oct. 3, has been moved back to Sunday, Dec. 19 at Cleveland.

KLUSZEWSKI EYES NL HOMER MARK

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Every time big Ted Kluszewski, the muscle man of the Cincinnati Redlegs, bangs out a home run the fans in the Ohio Valley scream with joy.

Kluszewski, former Indiana University football star, leads the National League in roundtrippers with 48 and at the rate he's going they might have to make room in the record books.

The 24-year-old mark for National League home run sluggers is held by Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs who belted 56 in 1930.

GLS GET BUTTER FOR FIRST TIME

SEOUL (AP)—For the first time, U. S. soldiers in Korea this week are spreading bread with butter instead of oleomargarine.

Army quartermaster authorities said today thousands of pounds of butter were arriving in Pusan for use on mess tables. Oleomargarine will be used for cooking.

Adult Education Plan Approved

School Enrollment Discussed by Board

A tentative plan for adult education classes was approved by the city school board at its regular monthly meeting Monday afternoon.

The classes, if they are held, will be held in the high school at night. Members of the high school faculty will be the instructors.

The question marks in the plan are: (1) the number of adults interested, (2) the type of courses wanted and (3) the availability of teachers.

A daytime class in typing was offered last July and drew a good enrollment. Several of those who took the course then said they were interested in continuing the training.

Against that sort of background, Supt. W. A. Smith said indications are that if there are adult education classes they probably would be in the commercial courses, such as typing and bookkeeping and stenography.

However, he added that if there are a sufficient number interested in some other subjects and the teachers are available, the classes probably could be arranged. He mentioned such courses as history, government and English in this connection.

A REPORT by Don Murdock, a certified public accountant, that all the extra curricular activity accounts are in balance, was submitted to the board and the board approved and accepted it. This report covered the accounts of the classes, different clubs, Athletic Association, the band and the like.

The board authorized improvements in the drains from the drinking fountains at the Eastside School.

Bills amounting to $42,119 were approved by the board for payment. Of the total, approximately $30,000 was for teacher and employee salaries.

Much of the meeting time was devoted by the board to a general discussion of the pupils' congestion in the elementary schools and the crowding of many classes in the high school.

Increased interest in commercial subjects, it was said by Supt. Smith, has made necessary the addition of another teacher for the commercial courses. Mrs. Tran Del Ponte's appointment to a position in the department with a one-year contract was approved.

As an example of the bulging enrollment in the high school, Supt. Smith said two English classes had more than 40 students and that one health class had 59 pupils and another 46.

He also remarked that there was a surprising increase in the enrollment in the Latin class and suggested that interest in higher education probably was the reason.

The congestion in elementary schools also came in for its full share of discussion, but in the end it was generally agreed that the transfers of pupils in the Eastside and Sunnyside school districts to the other three schools had equalized the classes, especially in the third grade, about as much as possible under conditions.

The second grade, which has not been involved in the pupil transfer program, is one of the big problems but there's not much that can be done about it now.

Milledgeville MYF Holds Wiener Roast

The Milledgeville Methodist Youth Fellowship held a wiener roast Monday at the home of J. P. and Charles "Sonny" Morgan. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan.

The picnic was held in the front yard of the Morgan home, using the outdoor oven there.

Austrian City Orders Silence

BAD GLEICHENBERG, Austria. — If a cock crows at sunrise in this Austrian health resort, he's to be thrown out of town on orders of the city fathers.

Doctors in Bad Gleichenberg, which attracts sick people who drink its mineral-rich waters, claim silence is about half the cure for most disease. A statue of Harpocrates, the god of silence, stands prominently in a city park.

The city administration recently put its ban on noisy birds and other noises.

The heating of carpets is limited to certain hours. Motorists are not allowed to blow their horns. Visitors arriving on motorcycles have to check them immediately in free garages and hand over the keys to the city administration until they leave again.

Grange Booster Meeting Is Held

Rev. Russell Hoy Is Chief Speaker

An audience of 250 Grangers and their friends welcomed Rev. and Mrs. Russell Hoy to Fayette County Monday night.

Rev. Hoy was the principal speaker at the annual Grange Boosters Night held at the Dayton Power & Light auditorium here. Pastor of a country church in Canal Lewisburg, Rev. Hoy is widely known as an author and spokesman for the rural churches of America.

Rev. Hoy is best known to Grangers as chaplain of the Ohio Grange.

His talk stressed the necessity of maintaining the unity of the rural home. Since its very beginning, he said, the farm family has been the basic unit of strength in America.

He added that the Grange was a vital factor in strengthening the moral fibre of the rural family, helping meet the great need of our time for spiritual strength.

The meeting was under the leadership of Deputy Master J. Herbert Perrill, who acted as chairman. Perrill explained the significance of Boosters Night.

After Perrill's introductory remarks, Millie Crissinger and Doris and Roy Wipert sang two songs. The trio was followed by the introduction of Rev. Hoy by Loren Hynes, chairman of the program committee.

AFTER THE main speech of the evening Brian and Lynn Frock played a series of three piano duets. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Frock.

Next on the program was the introduction of the Grange Prince and Princess, who will be delegates from Fayette County to the State Grange Convention in Columbus. They are Miss Joyce Ann Ritter and Kemp Allemang.

The masters of the Granges in Fayette County were each called upon to take a bow. They are Kenneth Bush, Charles Cook, Ervin Ritter, Loren D. Hynes, Kenneth Arnold, Loren C. Johnson and Roscoe Whiteside.

Special guests of the meeting were Dr. and Mrs. Brent Welch. Dr. Welch was formerly Health commissioner of Fayette County and now holds the same position in Miami County.

Group singing was led by Roy Wipert with Frances Perrill accompanying at the piano.

Perrill closed the meeting with thanks to the Dayton Power & Light Co. for furnishing the hall and to the Kirkpatrick, Gerstner, Hook and Parrett funeral homes for providing chairs.
